

This is an alternative travel guide to Berlin - written by people from Berlin in German-English. You might as well get used to this kind of English before you go there. The ideal use of this guide is to accompany a classic guide. You will find many information here that will not be published in normal guides (like on Berlin attitudes and lifestyles or about adult entertainment), but on the other hand this book does not cover every single aspect of your travel. It is written to add to your Berlin experience, but also to entertain you, before, while or after going there. A mobile phone, ve call it "handy". A TV show host, ve call him "show master". A tuxedo ve call "smoking". And so on. It has to be a catchy English phrase, zen ve love it, no matter if it makes any sense. So zis is one of ze reasons vy "Checkpoint Charlie" is so famous. It vas one of ze main parts vere ze Soviet and ze American sector could be crossed between 1961 and 1990. You vill see a (not original) control booth ve had at ze border and ve achshally pay some students to play Soviet and American soldiers for reasons of dramatization. Zere is also a huge Cassedral at ze beginning of ze island. Inside ze museums, zere is mostly old art and stuff zat ve stole from ozers like ze Greeks or ze Egyptians. German scientists found stuff in ze Egyptian desert and brought it to Germany. Ve understand zey vant zeir stuff back. For example, ze real and original bust of Nofretete (Nefertiti), around 3300 years old and in mint condishon, is in ze New Museum. Ve vill not give it back to ze Egyptians. Zey might destroy it in some riot and ve need ze money.
